It may be noticed that we are publishing a gazette of interest to the shipping community generally, giving the names of officers on leave, promotions, transfers, etc. We imagine it will be found useful by many shipping people here, who can see at a glance where their friends are at the time. We shall be much obliged for any information from our readers tending to keep the column up to date.

An old land mark is rapidly disappearing. We refer to the old Stag Hotel, and many residents will remember the time when this was one of the principal hotels in the Colony. It marks the progress of the community when in a few years the old must be removed and a new five-story building erected. Under able management it should be a great convenience to travellers and under the skilled hand of Mr. Hazeland the architect will certainly be an ornament to Queen's Road.

Sport & Gossip of the 19th inst. remarks:—

As Mr. and Mrs. James Watts were leaving the Consulate on Tuesday morning last, the knot having been tied but a few minutes, came the news that His Majesty King Edward VII had conferred upon him the decoration of C. M. G. for conspicuous bravery while carrying despatches from Tientsin to Taku—a marriage present with a vengeance. Great as the distinction is, I can hardly think from what I know of Mr. Watts that it is one that he will appreciate. Had Mr. Watts been a soldier by profession, he would have received a V. C., but think how ill-fitting such a title as C. M. G. would be to many recipients of the V. C. and you have the matter in a nutshell. For Mr. Watts' pluck he surely might have been suitably rewarded, say by some token, even if only in writing, from His Majesty, backed up by a lump sum or a yearly reminder of the anniversary of his ride. Think of it how one may—and I most certainly think Mr. Watts should be handsomely rewarded—I cannot think that the hero of the ride for relief to Taku will be able to appreciate the high honour which has been conferred upon him, or that he will feel at home as James Watts Esq., C. M. G.

As we mentioned before, the new comet is visible here. It is situated in the west, some little distance above the point of sunset and may be seen from about 7.30 to 8 p.m. It is by no means bright and is practically invisible to the naked eye. It may be found with a pair of ordinary field glasses, however.

THE Kokumin Shimbun of the 19th inst. says:—Yesterday morning His Majesty the Emperor was pleased to relieve Viscount Watanabe of his present post and to appoint Marquis Saionji to act as the minister of Finance ad interim. At the same time the other Ministers of State were gracefully instructed to continue in their office pending the reorganization of the Cabinet. This indicates that there will be an interval of some wearisome length before the State affairs can be restored to their normal conditions.

A SPECIAL telegram to the New Press of the 24th inst. says:—Yesterday morning the local share market was in a flutter of excitement over the sudden boom in the shares of the Kai-ping Coal Mine, for which the Chinese Engineering and Mining Co. here are the agents. It was currently reported in town yesterday that, according to a telegram received from the mine at Tong Shan, a new discovery of tin had been made. Consequently, the shares soon rose to 450 taels yesterday morning, but dropped to 350 taels in the afternoon.

WE wonder how it is that the same Reports on various matters, generally sanitary, the same suggestions and proposals, appear with unvarying regularity in the Gazette. We suppose it means that the authors of the Reports have nothing new to say, as their suggestions have rarely been acted upon, and therefore merely require repetition. But it looks rather as if these Reports, which take time and trouble to compile, were so much waste paper, when we read in Gazette after Gazette sentences like these:—"I mentioned this in 18—" or "I have urged this matter before, at different times," often years ago.

AT THE MAGISTRACY.

DESTROYING TREES.

For destroying twenty pine trees at North Point, Liu Piu U was fined $10 or fourteen days. He paid up.

LOTTERY TICKETS.

Lat Sui Hing, a broker of 25 Gough Street, charged Bernardo Cruz with selling Macao Lottery tickets. His story was that he met the defendant in Bridges Street and was offered five slips by him. He took the defendant to the Police Station. Mr. Kemp imposed a fine of ten dollars or three weeks' hard labour. The fine was paid.

P. C. 340, Chi Chuk, charged So Piu with the same offence, and also with scratching him when arrested. He was fined ten dollars or three weeks on the first charge and the second was dismissed. Defendant was unable to pay up and went to gaol.

CREATING A DISTURBANCE.

Five coolies who created a disturbance in Mr. Rutledge's shop in D'Aguiar Street were fined three dollars or ten days each. The dispute arose over the payment of wages, the coolies demanding more than they were entitled to. They will find it cheaper to be satisfied with fair pay.

OPIMUM CASES.

Chan Tai who was in possession of one tael eight mace of prepared opium, was also possessed of an ingenious defence. $15.00 or 1 month—hard-luck—paid.

Chan Leung Wai was charged by P. C. 93 with having one mace opium in his possession. The only point of interest in the case concerned the defendant, viz. a fine of $2 or 7 days.

FIGHTING.

Quarrelling and fighting with one another cost Li Kau, a shopkeeper and Fung Lik, a coolie, three dollars or ten days. Whether Fung Liked or no, history recordeth not.

Lo Han and Chu U had a regular shindy at Quarry Bay and appeared before Mr. Kemp with bloodstained faces and clothes. They were fined three dollars or ten days. They chose the latter.

UNLAWFUL HAWKING.

Hawking fresh fish in the Market at Yau-ma-tei cost Leung Mo three dollars.

Hawking vegetables without a licence cost Yuen Chau two dollars or seven days. He went to gaol.

COSTLY HINGES.

Li Sze pleaded guilty to stealing two brass-hinges, value $1.50, and was sentenced to three weeks' hard labour.

"TOO SAUCY."

Kwok Su Kau, a fireman, thought that Kun Chun, a watchman, was "too saucy," and, having told him so, proceeded to assault him. This forcible expression of opinion cost him ten dollars.

A CHINESE EDITOR'S CASE.

Lok Pak Chau, editor of the Chung Nei San Po, charged Lau Piu, a fitter of 35 Temple Street, with demanding money with menaces. Complainant stated that Defendant demanded fifty dollars (afterwards reduced to $25) from him and threatened that if it was not paid he would report him to the Canton Authorities as an informer. The complainant put the Defendant off with a request to "call again" and when he did so had a detective handy, who to the effect that he had complained $25 at the Kun Han Club, D'Aguiar St., some time ago and although he had asked for it he had not had it returned. After hearing a great deal of evidence, Mr. Hazeland discharged the Defendant.

A SAVAGE ASSAULT.

Lam Cho, coolie of Deep Water Bay was charged with unlawfully gambling and secondly with assaulting P. C. 60 in the execution of his duty. The prisoner was caught red handed by the arresting constable, who found him more than a handful. Sgt. Langley, on arriving on the scene, found the constable with his thumb bitten to the bone and otherwise badly injured.

The prisoner was found guilty on both counts and fined $3 or to days on the first, and two months' hard labour on the second count, sentences consecutive. We understand P. C. James Reynolds' thumb has been medically dressed and further complications are not feared.

FAILING TO REPORT A PLAQUE CASE.

Pun Ngan, widow, and Ip Wing, coolie, were found guilty of not reporting a case of bubonic plague to the Authorities. There was practically no defence and, considering the possibilities of what might happen, they got off lightly. Pun Ngan $25.00 or month. Ip Wing $10.00 or 14 days.

THOU SHALT NOT GAMBLE.

Police Sergeant No. 67 made a raid on 20 West Street last night and roped in twenty-five hard working gentlemen described as coolies, shopmen, servants, carpenters, &c. They were charged with gambling, but by their evidence they were sleeping, sitting, talking, &c. The magistrate expressed his opinion in the shape of a fine of $20.00 or 7 days each.

EXTRACTS FROM THE "GAZETTE."

The following Reports are published in the Gazette of the 25th inst:—

GENERAL SANITARY CONDITION.

The year has been a very busy one, owing to the enforcement of the provisions of the Sanitary Properties Ordinance of 1899, which was passed on November 28th of that year, and which required, inter alia, the provision of open spaces in the rear of many existing domestic buildings. A large number of old buildings throughout the Colony have now been provided with these backyards, and although they rarely exceed the legal minimum of 50 square feet in area, yet some improvement is already perceptible in the lighting and ventilation of the back part of many of these dwellings. All new domestic buildings must now be provided with backyards, or back lanes, varying from 6 feet to 14 feet in width, in accordance with the depth of the house, and as plans of no less than 1,319 new buildings have been sent in during the year, it will be seen that this provision will gradually have a marked effect upon the general sanitary condition of the Colony. The Sanitary Board are now engaged upon an earnest attempt to secure a reduction in the present excessive height of buildings, for the provisions of the present law in this respect are calculated to stultify, to a great extent, the benefit which should accrue from these open spaces in the rear of buildings. For more than fifty years past, many of the larger cities of Great Britain have prohibited the erection of buildings of greater height than the width of the streets on which they front, while in this Colony domestic buildings can still be erected, under certain conditions, to a height of 45 feet in lanes of only 14 feet in width, and in streets of just over 20 feet in width buildings can be erected of a height of 45 feet and can have balconies on either side of such street projecting over footways and reducing the width of such street which is open to the sky to 11 or 12 feet only. Many old houses which were originally designed as two-story buildings have recently been raised to three and four-story buildings under the present law, and the sooner therefore the law is amended in this respect, the better will it be for the general sanitary condition of the Colony.

INSANITARY BUILDINGS.

The question of the resumption of insanitary or obstructive buildings is one which must shortly receive the serious attention of the Government, as there are many private lanes in the City which have been converted into insanitary courts by the erection of dwellings at both ends of the lane, leaving a passage way only below the first floor. Such obstructive buildings should be resumed and demolished and this can now be readily done under the Crown Lands Resumption Ordinance of 1900, while legislation is needed to prohibit the further erection of such obstructive buildings.

LATRINES.

Several additional latrines were in process of erection at the latter end of the year, but there is still the same urgent need for urinals, especially in the City of Victoria. This need has been pointed out by me since 1897, and it is, I believe, one of the principal causes of the offensive smells, which arise from many of the street gullies and the drains, as, in the absence of suitable conveniences, the coolies have no option but to make use of these receptacles for the purpose.

We are pleased to hear that Mr. Meek, of Messrs. Falconer & Co., continues to improve and that the other European plague patients are doing well.

The last twenty-four hours have been a time of anxiety for the Sanitary authorities owing to the rain and warm, muggy weather but we are pleased to say no fresh European cases are reported up to the time of going to press.

The Sanitary Authorities are certainly in earnest with regard to the thorough cleaning of Beaconsfield Arcade. So far no particular reason has appeared to account for the many cases that have occurred in these buildings. The back yards, although damp, and the premises generally compare favourably with most houses in Hongkong. The Chinese tailors with their piles of clippings, odds and ends of cloth, &

IMPERIAL DECREES.

(By Telegraph from Hsin.)
SPECIALLY TRANSLATED FOR THE "NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS."

19th May.

1. See-hai-tan-yu, etc., Empress Dowager of China, hereby command that a further supply of money equal to one-half of each one's usual allowances, be distributed by the Board of Revenue to the Princes, nobles and officials left at Peking owing to the straits in which they have been placed since the capital fell a victim to war. In this connection I have already previously twice commanded the distribution of relief to the above-named sufferers, but as some months have passed since then, their supplies must have been finished by this time and further relief must therefore be given them. I also command that one month's extra pay shall also be paid to the Manchus and Chinese Green Banner troops in Peking.

INHUMAN CRUELTY.

The Shanghai Mercury reports the following case at the Mixed Court, Shanghai, on the 23rd inst.:

Sing Ah Woe and Sing Na Szu, a Chinese couple, were charged with inhuman cruelty to the six-year old betrothed of their son.

It appears that about four weeks ago, these two monsters in human guise took charge of the little girl, and her feet being apparently too large to suit their aesthetic tastes, they set about bandaging the same in such a cruel and at the same time careless way, as to cause gangrene to set in, in consequence of which the toes of both feet dropped off.

The child, brought to Court by her mother, was a most pitiable spectacle to look upon: her legs were emaciated, covered with blue and purple weals, probably caused by bamboo splints tightly tied around them; her feet were stumps, without toes, abnormally swollen, and full of scars at the heels and where the toes had been.

And withal, nothing more than a nominal punishment could be given to these fiends, as they simply followed the custom of the country, though in a far more cruel manner than is usually the case.

The magistrate decided that accused were to pay a $30 fine, to be paid for the medical treatment of the child in her mother's house, and that the child was to remain with its mother until married to the son of the accused.

OBJECTIONS TO GIVING SALT GABELLE AS SECURITY.

The New Press of the 23rd inst. says:

"A Nanking despatch states that the other day H. E. Li Kun-yi had received a despatch from Prince Ching and Viceroy Li Hung-chang, Chinese Plenipotentiaries at Peking, wherein it is stated that the salt gabelle should be taken as security for the indemnity payable to the Powers concerned. Before sending a reply to this His Excellency received a despatch from Viceroy Chang Chi Tung in which the latter stated that the salt gabelle is an important financial resource of the State, upon which the greater part of expenditure relies. If it was offered to the Powers as security for the indemnity, how would the various expenses be covered? H. E. Chang then states that China should inaugurate the poll tax as it is done in western countries. For instance, there are 400,000,000 people; if 200,000,000 people (this refers to men of middle age) yearly pay 200 copper cash for the tax (of course, children, old men and women are excepted), the total income therefrom will be 40,000,000,000 copper cash or 40,000,000 taels. Whether H. E. Li's proposal of this suggestion or not we do not know. The New Press has one query to put: Granting that 200 million men all pay up, there will be 40 million taels revenue, what will there be if they refuse to pay? Well, we expect there will be more gabelle in that case."

VICEROY TAO MO'S MEMORIAL AGAINST THE EUNUCHS.

EUNUCHS SHOULD BE EXTERMINATED.

We are in receipt of a true copy of the memorial forwarded to the Throne by H. E. Tao Mo, the popular and enlightened Viceroy of Canton, denouncing the eunuchs (Li Lien-yin and the like) and objecting to their being allowed to be at large at Hsinan, from which we take the following translation:

"The flourishing or declining state of a nation depends upon morality in ancient times when a ruler made friends with good classes of people his nation was always found happy and peaceful, and if he was acting on the contrary, surely he met with incessant troubles in his nation. Consequently, the natural differences between the 'peace' and the 'disturbance' conditions should be thoroughly understood. The multitude of the people and the progress of affairs, as far as foreign countries and as near as the palaces, all depend upon the ruler alone. The position is high and the work is difficult. It is true that this work is difficult one notwithstanding the daily admittance of enlightened and sensible students by whom the ruler of a nation is usually supplied with good advice or information, there still exist some fears for proper sufficient knowledge in arriving at a proper arrangement in all the affairs of state. And now if bad people are allowed to share in the management of government matters, is it possible that the country will escape ruin?"

Among the Court ministers although there may be some who are bad to the last degree, the ruler, however, does not have them near him. It is the eunuchs whom the ruler always has near him. If the ruler and the eunuchs become nearer in their relations, the decent ministers will be kept apart. As a result good policy will not be apparent, faults will go unheard and the difficulties of the inside and outside as well as the high and low (that is to say the king and the common people) will not be openly explained. In the annals it appears that incessant troubles have been sustained in the preceding dynasties by the interference of the eunuchs with the government affairs. The law of the present dynasty is wise and during its existence of over 200 years, no eunuch has ever been permitted to interfere with any matter of state. (In writing memorials it is the custom for the memorialist to deny the facts before the Emperor). Therefore the present government has been a prosperous one, surpassing any of the dynasties gone by. Notwithstanding this, there appears some fault which I should suggest to make null and void in the same way as the farmers clear the useless weeds in the fields by not only cutting off the leaves or stems but also extirpating the root. Your Majesty is a virtuous Emperor and will surely not give credence to those eunuchs, but on behalf of thousands of people, I have very reluctantly to fear you may. During the last (Ming) dynasty the multitude of the eunuchs in service were attributable to there being many concubines of the Emperor's. Your Majesty has greatly reduced the number of concubines and in the rooms are many serving women. In the inner palace students may be employed in place of the eunuchs. In the meantime your Majesty is following the Dowager Empress towards the west, it is high time, to ponder greatly about the number of these eunuchs out of employment, leaving only 20 or 30 eunuchs who are really loyal to your Majesty. After your return to Peking, your Majesty will issue a decree commanding the Princes and High Ministers to hold meetings regarding the dismissal from service of these eunuchs. As your Majesty is desirous of reforming the Government, the most important subject that your Majesty has to deal with is the expulsion of these eunuchs. This is the foundation of reform. In all the countries on the globe, Emperors have never had those people called eunuchs. Only China has such people! Will your Majesty modify this system? That is our prayer.—The New Press, May 21st.

ANOTHER OSAKA BANK IN DIFFICULTIES.

The Kobe Herald of the 15th instant states that the Yorodzu reports that the Kitahama Bank of Osaka is in a bad state through recent transactions on the Osaka Rice Exchange. It is reported, says the journal, that the Directors of the bank have applied for assistance to the Mitsui and other banks and succeeded in borrowing one million yen on Sunday last; but it is not clear whether the bank has been able to meet all demands.

It is known that the bank lent large amounts to the Koya Railway Co. and the Higashi Honganji Temple to relieve their financial difficulties some time ago and these loans have not been repaid to any extent so far. Some damaging reports with regard to this Bank have been circulating recently.

THE ECLIPSE AS SEEN IN SINGAPORE.

SINGAPORE, 18th May.

In the picturesque words of a Strait Times correspondent, the moon began to light with the sun shortly after eleven o'clock this morning, what is to say, the passage of the moon between the earth and the sun commenced, so far as observation in Singapore was concerned, at the hour mentioned. The eclipse was timed to commence at twenty minutes after noon, but that was an approximate time only, and as a matter of fact the first signs of contact were visible just after eleven o'clock.

The conditions were just about as favourable as they could be. Occasionally light clouds passed over the luminous orb; but for the greater part of the time the sun was shining brightly and clouds were few and far between. The ordinary tinted spectacles were of little use in watching the process of obscuration; but with a piece of well-smoked glass it was possible to follow the process without the eyes unduly suffering, and the eclipse was watched from this and many other offices with ease. When the sun's surface was a quarter obscured, there was a perceptible diminution of light, although the sun continued to shine brightly.

At 12 noon, the sun was barely half covered, and shortly after, when the area of obscuration increased, the toning down of the light grew much more perceptible.

The eclipse began to excite some amount of interest about this time; and several Malays and Chinese were to be seen gazing mysteriously into buckets of water watching, as they put it, the attempts of the "big dragon" to swallow the sun.

It was amusing to hear the various comments of tumbies, syces, coolies, etc., most of whom maintained an incredulous sort of attitude towards any explanation that was offered. All seemed agreed that some sort of a fight was going on over head and that the dragon was having decidedly the best of it. "Hai Yai!" said one dusky gentleman "lagi sikit nani lagi macham malam"—and appearances certainly began to bear that out.

One Chinaman was seen industriously studying the sun with a pair of opera glasses. "We hope he liked it!" at Bukit Pasoh, and in other parts, we understand, there was great consternation. The end of the world was coming, many Chinese in that neighbourhood declared; and forthwith they sought consolation in prayers and tom-toms.

At 12.30 interest in the eclipse was very keen, for now there was very little of the sun to be seen, and smoked glass was in great request everywhere.

The nearest approach to totality was at 12.50, when it became necessary in this office to use lamps. From that time onward, the light increased as the area of obscuration became less, and by 2.15 p.m. or thereabouts the sun was again shining forth in full force.—Straits Times.

THE HEALTH OF AHMEDNAGAR.

We learn, says the Bombay Gazette of the 4th instant, that there is no truth in the statement which has been widely circulated in the English Press to the effect that Ahmednagar is more unhealthy than any Cantonment in India except Peshawar. The last statistics which have been compiled are for the year 1899, which was an unhealthy one in Ahmednagar, owing to the failure of rains over the area in which it is situated. Yet, its death-rate for European troops under the same conditions as the Bher prisoners was lower than the corresponding death-rate even in such hill stations as Landour, Kasauli, Murree, and Mount Abu and was less than half that of Dunt-Dun. In 1899, which was a more average year, the European troops' death-rate in Ahmednagar was little over half that of the corresponding total for Nainital troops. It was below that of troops in the hill stations of Ranikhet, Chertai, Rawalpindi, Landour, Kasauli, Murree, and Mount Abu and exceeded only by a fraction of that of troops in such healthy resorts as Darjeeling and Dalhousie. As regards the plains stations its death-rate was less than one third that of European troops in Peshawar and half that of troops in such stations as Lucknow and Ferozepore. The comparison over a longer series of years would probably show even more advantageously towards Ahmednagar, which has long been a favourite station amongst troops.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA'S LAMP.

"Truly the light is sweet!" The Wise Man's words are imperishable, and they gather force in the Light Department of the London Hospital. Owing to the compassion and generosity of Queen Alexandra (says a writer in the May number of The Quiver) a portion of one of the new temporary wards bears this pleasant and suggestive name, and treats forty patients daily with very encouraging results. In 1896 Dr. Finson, a Dane, founded an institute in Copenhagen for the treatment of lupus and other diseases of the skin by light. Sufferers from various countries, including England, flocked to it, and found in some cases relief and in others permanent cure. The then Princess of Wales could not rest until the treatment was brought within the reach of the poor of her adopted country. She presented the apparatus to the London Hospital, where all the arrangements for its use have been carried out by Dr. Stephen Mackenzie and Dr. Sequeira, who paid a visit to the Finsen Institute. One lamp was found quite insufficient, so a second was soon provided by the governors of this great hospital of the East-End. The total capital outlay has been £1,000, and preparations for the erection of a third light are nearly complete. As sunlight cannot be always depended upon, a ward where artificial light can be used was a necessity in addition to the open-air apparatus, for which a part of the hospital garden is set apart. On entering the ward the first impression is the sound of cheerful though subdued conversation between the nurses and patients. Two electric lamps are suspended from the ceiling, each provided with four telescopes. Around each of them, and in such a position that the lamp can look down through its magnifying glasses like a benevolent eye on the affected spots, four patients recline on couches. Beside each, her eyes protected by black spectacles, a nurse sits pressing a lens on the crimson patch which indicates that a germ known on account of its cruel capacity for the name of lupus, is hiding under the patient's skin. In this position they remain for an hour at a time. Through the black spectacles, a white spot fringed with red may be discerned agitating below the lens. It is white, the nurse explains, because the pressure makes it anemic, and the agitation in the glass is due to a current of cold water flowing through the hollow lens by means of india-rubber pipes. She has no pain, the round-faced, healthy-looking young patient said with a smile, and she listened with interest to an explanation of the process given by the sister and nurse. It is founded on the principle that light, if it can be so concentrated as to penetrate through the skin, kills the disease germ. But how is light to attack the wolf without burning or inflaming the flesh of the wolf's victim? The scorching red and the chemical white rays are subdued by their passing first through cold water. The blue and ultra-violet rays are powerless to hurt the skin, though mercuries to destroy bacteria. It is natural to suppose that the young are the most hopeful cases, but the sister and nurse took pleasure in recalling the complete recovery of a white-haired old lady after fifty-two attendances at the London Hospital. It is encouraging that some of the patients cured in the Finsen Institute have been quite free from any recurrence of the disease for two years. The exquisite poetry which promises "healing in the wings" of the Sun of Righteousness is based on a scientific fact. Light is life and health. It will be recounted in the history of our gracious Queen Alexandra that she brought her country a blessing that must surely reflect on herself in her people's love and gratitude.

THE SUBMARINE BOAT.

In an article on submarine boats in the May number of the Pall Mall Magazine the writer says: "The most serious difficulty that has yet to be overcome is to enable the commander of a submarine to see his way. The natural qualities of deep water, its seeming impenetrability to human sight, appear to make this difficulty almost insuperable. The French claim, however, that they have to some extent evaded it. It is intended in practice that the submarines shall proceed to their destination on the surface so long as they are in no danger of being observed. On nearing a hostile fleet or harbour they will sink, and rely for their safety and efficacy as engines of destruction on their capacity for travelling under water. It should be added that, owing to a special contrivance of which the secret is carefully guarded, but as to the results of which there is no doubt, the submarines take far less time to sink when under way than when at rest. In the latter case, when the effect is obtained solely by letting in a certain quantity of water, several minutes are required for the craft to go under, whereas when it is in motion its disappearance is very rapid, and almost instantaneous, when all that emerges is the low conning tower, or rather cap from which a glimpse of the horizon is obtained. In warfare this almost invisible cap, which surmounts the crest of the vessel in the centre, is all that can be hoped to catch sight of from a hostile ship. The submarine boat, when approaching its expected prey, may have to rise for a moment to the extent of showing this cap, so as to allow the commander to make the final observations by which he will direct his torpedo. It is by no means certain, however, that the necessity for this exposure immediately before the discharge of the torpedo has not already been obviated. The French boats are now provided with a 'periscope,' an optical contrivance composed of mirrors and lenses arranged in a narrow tube, some twenty feet long and barely four inches in diameter, which enables the commander to take stock of his surroundings while remaining below the surface. The periscope, so be utilized, of course, to emerge a foot or two, but even in broad daylight the slender object would easily escape the most vigilant watch, especially if the water were at all ruffled. Still it is admitted that the range of vision of the periscope is exceedingly limited. The problem of providing the submarine boat with 'eyes' has still to be solved satisfactorily.
